Time	Description
10 mins	PDW Introduction and Overview Eric Yanfei Zhao
50 mins	Plenary Session 1 During the opening plenary, panelists will each take on a specific aspect of the OD discussion as outlined in the proposal and talk about how they envision seeding a productive research program in light of emerging questions and opportunities. Moderator: Eric Yanfei Zhao Panelists: Gino Cattani, Rodolphe Durand, Peer Fiss, Mary Ann Glynn, Nelson Phillips
20 mins	Quick Q&A and Break
45 mins	Breakout Room Discussions Once we have heard from all five presenters, there will be breakout room sessions. The discussion in each room is semi-structured and will center around a provisional topic; this is to help participants self-select into a specific room based on their research expertise and interest. However, participants should not feel constrained by these provisional topics, but are encouraged to come to the discussion with an open mind. Early career researchers and PhD students will benefit from this format, since they will have the opportunity to gain insights into cutting-edge theoretical thinking and converse with established thought leaders in a more intimate and friendly environment. Room 1: OD and Institutions and Organizational Identity (Mary Ann Glynn, Mike Lounsbury) Room 2: OD and Qualitative Research (Nelson Phillips, Shannon Younger) Room 3: QCA and Multidimensionality of OD (Peer Fiss, David Deephouse) Room 4: OD and Machine Learning (Richard Haans, Majid Majzoubi) Room 5: OD in Entrepreneurial Markets (Matthew Barlow, J Cameron Verhaal) Room 6: OD and Stakeholder Multiplicity (Gino Cattani, Eunice Rhee) Room 7: OD and Market Categories (Rudy Durand, Jade Lo)
35 mins	Plenary Session 2 In the second plenary session, we will hear from scholars on some of the most contemporary and exciting topics of research they are working on related to OD. These scholars will share their thoughts about how OD could inform and be informed by these emerging and growing areas of research. And they will be encouraged to incorporate the insights they have gathered from the breakout room discussions.
